THE COUNCIL OF CANADIANS IS ORGANIZING TO CHANGE THIS. FOR MORE INFORMATION:

WE NEED PUBLIC PHARMACARE. WE NEED IT NOW.

Over 3.4 million Canadians can't afford their medications, and millions more are struggling with high out-of-pocket costs. Sky-high drug prices are taking billions from our hospitals, at a time when we need to massively re-invest to save public health care.

A public, single-payer drug insurance plan that covers all Canadians, also known as pharmacare, could change this.

Public pharmacare would allow us to use bulk buying to bring down our out-of-control drug prices, which are some of the highest in the world. It's what every other wealthy country (except the U.S.) does to get lower drug prices. And it's what the Advisory Council on Implementing National Pharmacare called for in 2019.

We need to raise the political temperature to make pharmacare happen. Justin Trudeau's Liberal government has committed to passing a Canada Pharmacare Act by the end of 2023. But right now, Big Pharma and its insurance industry allies are working to torpedo the whole project.
